TIME FOR CHANGE

Over a period of time, Ravinder Raddy, company's head of IT, has used various antivirus products to protect the data and provide more user-friendly environment to the employees of Issar Pharma. They needed to move away from existing antivirus protection to something faster and lighter.

Mr. Ravinder Reddy explains: "The machine performance with the earlier Antivirus was slow. During scans, you could tell it was scanning. It took so many resources away from the machine to such an extent that all the other applications, like Microsoft Office, ran slow. We needed a better solution."

PROTECTED BY ESET

In choosing ESET, Ravinder had specific objectives he wanted to achieve: "Right away, we noticed improved system stability and performance compared to the earlier antivirus, which by comparison had been a processor hog. ESET, on the other hand, had much less system impact while offering the same protection."
